the near future, if plans now under way are consummated. A corporation has already outlined plans for the proposed mill and the intention is to erect it next spring. At this time of the year construction in Alaska is at a standstill because of the cold weather.

Just where the paper mill will be erected in Alaska has not been determined. However, Dawson City is considered the most probable location because of its facilities for receiving log shipments.

B. F. Heindziman, asristant district forester of the Alaska district, which is officially known as District No. 8, brings word of the proposed paper mill. Mr. Heindziman is spending several days in the Albuquerque office of the forest service. He will leave today for the east, where he will spend his annual leave and will then return to Alaska.

Mr. Heindziman reports that the No. 33-The Changed Coins in Hand A coin is held on the palm of each A coin is held on the paim of each hand. The hands are siapped down on the table.
